Mr. Furguele reported on the Alumni News Bulletin stating that the next issue should be ready within the next two weeks. Mr. Furguele also stated that many people have inquired as to why they do not receive the bulletin and he explained to them that the policy now is to send bulletins only to dues-paying members of the Association. He then stated that he and the Executive Committee feel that the policy of sending the bulletin only to dues-paying members should be changed and that the bulletin be sent to every graduate of the college; also the annual dues should be eliminated and a broader annual giving program should be initiated. He stated that he is optimistic enough to think that if we change this concept we will reap much more than we have in dues. Mr. Furguele presented the following two recommendations made by the Executive Committee for consideration:

- (1) Send a bulletin beginning in October 1966 to all alumni of the college. This will require the approval of the Executive Council and the General Alumni Association.
- (2) Concept of dues be changed to that of Annual Giving. This will be presented at the Executive Council meeting in October and will require a vote in May 1966.

The recommendations were put to the floor for discussion.

Miss Angie Marshall raised the question as to whether or not graduates receive the bulletin for one year following graduation without paying dues. Miss Esch replied that this was tried for a short time for the purpose of increasing membership but that it did not increase membership enough to justify its continuance. Mrs. Sanford stated that it is pretty hard to change the feelings of people; we are excited about the college while we are here then we forget about it and added that she hoped the change can be made before the Association goes into bankruptcy. Mrs. Juliette DuBarry Meyer suggested that annual dues be kept intact but that those who pay dues be given a vote at the Executive meetings thus enabling all alumni to receive the bulletin but reserve voting privileges to dues-paying members.

Mr. Furguele remarked that Indiana is already operating as a university yet we have not changed the concept of getting alumni interested in the Association. A college can be made by the alumni; they send us the students. He stated that he feels that if we send a bulletin which costs 10c we will get much more in contributions. He also stated that there are alumni who do not know that we have a Graduate School and a School of Liberal Arts since many alumni move to other states and lose contact with Indiana; therefore, sending the bulletin to those persons might gain their support.

Mrs. Graham stated that it is her opinion that alumni who do not know about the college have not read the annual giving letters which are mailed each year but stated that she is not opposed to the idea of sending the bulletin to all graduates. She read a quotation from Hamarskjold with which she agrees: "Never look down to test the ground before your next step; only he who keeps his eye on the far horizon will see how far he can go."

Miss Brennan stated that she has always felt that the bulletin should be sent to the people who donate to annual giving, but that the dues should be kept intact.

Dr. Nicholson suggested that the alumni think about the matter until the October 1965 meeting at which time it will be presented in the form of a question with final discussion at the Executive Council meeting since this is merely exploratory and will require further study. He then spoke on incorporating the Alumni Association as a non-profit organization stating that we need very much to place the Alumni Association in a position to act independently, but still be linked closely to the college. Dr. Nicholson made the motion that the Indiana State College Alumni Association authorize the officers to take the steps necessary to incorporate as a non-profit organization. Motion made, seconded, passed.

Miss Brennan remarked that she thought the Executive Council should have the final approval. Dr. Nicholson stated that the implication is that the Executive Council would offer its approval. This is merely a legal technicality which would cost approximately $200 and would make it possible for the organization to receive funds without interference from State auditors which would permit loan funds to remain intact with certain rights which we do not now have. This is long overdue, and it is to the advantage of the organization—it is legal protection to incorporate. Voie on question. So ordered.

Mr. Fargiuele stated that he would not give a lengthy report on the Council of Alumni Associations of the Pennsylvania State Colleges, but that the June 1965 Alumni News Bulletin will carry a complete report on activities of the Association.

Mr. Audrey Graham presented the following report on the Annual Giving Fund:

The Pennsylvania Federation of Womens Clubs established a loan fund in November 1964 in honor of Mrs. Flossie Wagner Sanford on her retirement as President of the Federation, and she selected Indiana State College to receive this fund. Contributions received to date total $3,361.29 and $1.00 has been paid as a service charge by a borrower. The cash balance at this time is $1,391.29 and loans receivable is $1,971.00 Twelve (12 loans have been granted in the sum of $2,129.00).

Vice President Ankeny called for old business and there was no response. Under new business Dr. Nicholson proposed a resolution in behalf of the Executive Council commending those persons in the Senate who worked for university status for Indiana State College, pointing out to all interested persons that the Executive Council of Indiana State College, representing a very large body of alumni, recognize the fine education and training received at Indiana State College, and therefore, are in a position, more than any other group, to know that this institution deserves university status (copy to be sent to persons in the Senate and House of Representatives). Statement from the floor that the resolution be sent to all members of the State Assembly.

In the absence of Mrs. Mary Jack, Chairman of the Nominating Committee, Mrs. Sally Johnson presented the following slate of officers for the two-year period 1965 to 1967:

President — Dr. Arthur F. Nicholson (1938)

Vice President — Mrs. Marie Steele Kellar (1926)

Secretary — Mrs. Catherine Taylor (1929)

Mr. Ankeny introduced Miss Helen M. Brennan, President of the General Alumni Association, and Dr. Willis E. Pratt, President of the College.

Upon motion duly made and seconded, the meeting was adjourned at 10:20 a.m.

General Alumni Association Meeting

Saturday, May 29, 1965, Fisher Auditorium

The General Alumni Association meeting was called to order at 10:45 a.m., Saturday, May 29, 1965, in Fisher Auditorium by the Vice President, Mr. Roy H. Ankeny. After extending greetings, Mr. Ankeny entertained a motion to dispense with the reading of the minutes of the May 1964 meeting which had been published in the October 1964 Alumni News Bulletin. Motion was duly made, seconded, passed.

Mrs. Louise Grant St. Clair (1915) and Mrs. Laura Phillippi Geinger (1940) escorted the Class of 1965 into the auditorium and appropriate presentation remarks were made by Mrs. St. Clair. Mr. James Condron, President of the Class, responded.

Mr. Ankeny introduced the platform: Dr. Willis E. Pratt, President of the College; Miss Marian I. Francis, Secretary; Miss Mary L. Esch, Treasurer and Executive Secretary; Mrs. Mary Jack, Chairman of the Nominating Committee; Mr. Samuel F. Furgiuele, Editor of the Alumni News Bulletin; Dr. Arthur Nicholson, Director of the Off-Campus Centers; Mrs. Audrey Graham, Chairman of the Annual Giving Committee; Mrs. Flossie Sanford, Chairman of the Jennie M. Ackerman Loan Fund; Miss Helen M. Brennan, President of the General Alumni Association; and Miss Nancy Newkerk, Dean of Women.

Miss Esch presented the Treasurer's report (see pages 1 and 2 of the Executive Council minutes) and was requested to file the report for audit.

Mrs. Mary Jack, Chairman of the Nominating Committee, presented the slate of officers for the two-year period 1965 to 1967:

President — Dr. Arthur F. Nicholson (1938)

Vice President — Mrs. Marie Steele Kellar (1926)

Secretary — Miss Catherine Taylor (1929)

Treasurer and Executive Secretary — Miss Mary L. Esch (1915)

A motion to accept the slate presented by the Nominating Committee was made, seconded, and passed unanimously.

Mr. Furguele reported on the Alumni News Bulletin stating that the next issue should be mailed within the next two weeks. He then stated that the possibility of sending the bulletin to all graduates whether or not they are dues-paying members of the Association was discussed at the Executive Council meeting and that the Executive Committee endorsed giving consideration to the proposal. Mr. Furguele stated that the cost of bulletins is now $700 to $750 per issue and that the cost of sending the publication to all graduates would be approximately $1,200 per issue. He also suggested something else to think about—the concept of changing from paying annual dues to a single contribution to be known as Annual Giving. He explained that all graduates are automatically members of the Alumni whether or not they pay dues. He also suggested that the new concept is a bit more complicated; to eliminate dues would require a change in the By-Laws. The issue should be voted on by the Executive Council at the October 1965 meeting and by the General Alumni Association in May 1966. He asked that the Association think about the change in policy and hoped that members would support it. Mr. Furguele continued that a great number of Indiana graduates are losing contact because they don't hear from the college except when they are solicited for contributions and that sending the bulletin would be a fine way to keep alumni informed on college affairs, a practice which should result in fine support.

Mrs. Graham reported on the Annual Giving Fund (see report on Annual Giving Fund, pages 3 & 4 of the Executive Council minutes). Mrs. Graham stated that this fund would increase if Mr. Furguele's plan is approved and added that perhaps the bulletin would not be set aside like a letter soliciting funds.

Mrs. Sanford reported on the Jennie M. Ackerman Loan Fund and the Flossie Wagner Sanford Loan fund (see page 4 of the Executive Council minutes.)

Dr. Pratt addressed the group and suggested that they look over the many new buildings on campus—Memorial Field House, Foster Dining Room, Weyandt Science Building and Elkin Hall (a new dormitory for girls which will be dedicated at 2:30 p.m.). He also spoke of the current enrollment—approximately 4700 full-time undergraduate students, 500 part-time undergraduate students, and 600 graduate students, thus making a total enrollment of approximately 5800 students. Dr. Pratt stated that we will have a larger student body next year; Liberal Arts has been added as well as teacher education and the Graduate School has enlarged.

Mr. Ankeny recognized the reunion classes after which he announced the program for the day.

Miss Brennan spoke to the group and stated that she was happy to have the opportunity primarily to thank those who have worked with her during the last four years as President of the Alumni Association; namely, Dr. Pratt, Miss Esch, and Mr. Ankeny, who took over the work of the Alumni Day meetings, also the members of the various committees, the Executive Council, and the Board of Trustees who are helping Indiana achieve university status. Miss Brennan concluded with "An alumni association is one of people; not bricks, mortar, and cement but spirit, interest, and loyalty for other people."

Dr. Nicholson spoke on incorporating the Alumni Association as a non-profit organization and stated that the officers were authorized to proceed with the transition which would give certain legal advantages in the future. He also stated that the Executive Council authorized the officers of the Association to take whatever steps are necessary to commend legislators on their efforts in helping Indiana State College achieve university status. Dr. Nicholson remarked that it does behoove the Alumni Association of Indiana State College to take some drastic steps of action to bring it from the past and to move forward as rapidly as possible within the next several years.

Unit reports were given after which Mr. Ankeny entertained a motion for adjournment. Meeting adjourned at 11:50 a.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Marian I. Francis, Secretary

Enrollment Again Sets Record: Passes 5,000 Mark for First Time

For the first time in the history of Indiana State College, full time undergraduate enrollment passed the 5000 mark. Figures recently released by Mary L. Esch, College Registrar, show 5111 enrolled for the first semester of 1965-66.

Dr. Willis E. Pratt, College President, stated that this is the eleventh year that Indiana has achieved a new enrollment record.

The 5111 figure includes 4657 students enrolled at the main campus, 296 at the Armstrong County Center at Kittanning, and 158 at the Punxsutawney Center.

The total number of students represents an increase of more than 500 over last year's figure of 4577. In 1963-64 the number stood at 4300, in 1962-63 at 3808, and in 1961-62 at 3504.

Not included in the above figures are an additional 315 students who are enrolled at the College on a part-time basis.

An additional 87 part time students are enrolled in the Liberal Arts Evening Program, now in its second year at the College.

Dr. I. L. Stright, Dean of the Graduate School, reports that an additional 693 have enrolled in the graduate school. This makes a grand total of 6206 students enrolled at the College this year.

Of the 5111 full time undergraduate students enrolled, 2305 are men and 2806 are women. Of the 4657 enrolled at the main campus, approximately 2150 women and 700 men are boarding students. The remaining 1800 are day students, commuting students, and students doing their practice teaching in the public schools.

Of the 5111 full time undergraduate students enrolled at the College, 773 are pursuing studies in the School of Liberal Arts, with the remaining 4338 in the School of Education.

In order to accommodate the increased enrollment, the College has added twenty-seven new faculty members to its staff, bringing the total faculty to 312, according to President Pratt.

To Give Graduate Record Exam

Indiana State College has been selected as a center for administering a Graduate Record Examination-National Program beginning in November.

The examinations will be given on November 13, 1965 and January 15 and April 23, 1966.

The Graduate Record Examinations are required or recommended of candidates for admission to many American graduate schools and of applicants for graduate fellowship awards. To assure the proper completion of these applications, candidates are urged to determine from their preferred graduate schools or fellowship committees which of the examinations are required or recommended and when they should be taken.

The GRE offered in this nationwide program include a test of general scholastic ability and Advanced Tests of achievement in twenty different major fields of study. Offered for the first time this fall will be Advanced Tests in speech and in music. Candidates are permitted to take both the Aptitude Test and one Advanced Test on any of the five nationwide testing dates.

Report of Evaluating Teams

Comprehensive, Analytical, Critical

"The Indiana State College of 1965 is the product of a century of development and a decade of transition . . . It is a college with a proud history and a bright future." Thus begins the report of the evaluating team of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, which conducted a reevaluation of the College at Indiana, Pennsylvania, last February.

The 50-page report, containing the findings and recommendations of the Middle States team, has recently been received by the College. Dr. Willis E. Pratt, college president, after a careful study of the report, stated that he feels the findings of the group extremely "comprehensive, analytical, and constructively critical."

As a result of the findings and recommendations contained in the report the administration and faculty of the college will devote their energies during 1965-66 to a thorough study of the committee's statement with a view toward the implementation of recommendations where possible, the president explained.

Speaking of the state of the College, the committee says, "Indiana State College is an institution of quality sustained in its evolution from a four-year teachers college to a multi-purpose educational enterprise by high faculty and student morale as well as brilliant executive leadership."

In assessing Indiana's bid for university status, the group states, "Indiana aspires to university status and has the potential to achieve it." It cautions, however, that care should be taken to protect the many fine new programs which have been initiated and that the College should be careful not to move into new areas too rapidly.

In general the evaluators felt they "had encountered much achievement, great additional potential for the future, and a dynamic forward looking college."

The Board of Trustees, which the evaluating team found "deeply interested in the welfare of the College, conscientious in the discharge of their duties, and cognizant of the immediate and long-range plans of the institution," was asked in the Report, to urge the State to enact legislation providing for an increased measure of autonomy for Indiana and to work hard to relieve the College of undesirable external controls.

Recognizing a need for additional staff and services, the committee, at the same time, commended the administrative staff and faculty for their competency and awareness of the educational objectives of the College.

Academic programs, they found "well organized and administered." They showed great concern, however, with the rigidity and inflexibility of the curriculum, brought about in part by constraints placed upon the institution by the Department of Public Instruction. There is need also, the group reported, for greater internal efforts of an imaginative and creative nature.

Regarding teaching load, the committee felt that staff members were generally overloaded and recommended a reduction in total hours of teaching to permit faculty time for personal study, research, advisory assignments, and other necessary duties. In spite of these findings, however, the committee found "a great deal more professional and scholarly publication by its faculty than that obtaining in the usual college of similar size and type."

In commenting upon the graduate program at Indiana State College, the evaluating team pointed out that in spite of certain limitations inherent in the type of program offered, courses are of graduate calibre.

The committee suggested that the College, in certain specific areas, is ready to offer the degrees of Master of Arts and Master of Science in addition to the Master of Education which it now grants.

In this connection, the group recommended the employment of graduate assistants so that more students enrolled in the graduate program can complete the requirements for advanced degrees in a minimum of time and to help the student defray the cost of graduate education.

The committee was greatly impressed by the rapid growth of the library, which was singled out for special study, and by the competency of the staff responsible for its operation, not only on the main campus, but at the Keith School and the two off-campus centers as well.

At the same time, the group suggested that for a comprehensive program of graduate studies in the Arts and Sciences, holdings and acquisitions should be doubled.

The evaluation of Indiana State College by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools was conducted in cooperation with the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education. The Middle States team was chairmaned by Dr. Frank P. Piskor, Vice President for Academic Affairs at Syracuse University in New York; the NCATE group was headed by Dr. Edwin L. Martin, Distinguished Service Professor of Education at Trenton State College, Trenton, New Jersey.

Grants, Awards, Performance Contracts Third Source of Income for ISC

Income and expenditures are the two sides of Indiana's ledger. The expenditures support the College's varied program and consist mainly of payments for salaries, supplies, services, and equipment. The income derives from two main sources: student fees and state appropriation.

A third source of income, now a relatively minor part of the local budget picture, gives promise of important development ahead. This third source is the federal government and, less dramatic in scope, other public and private agencies who contribute to the College by means of grants, awards, or performance contracts.

Federal interest in education is as old as the nation, and, prior to the last session of Congress, was marked by three major turning points: The Morrill Act of 1862 which provided land grants to the states to assist them to establish colleges; the Smith-Hughes Act of 1917 which provided money for vocational education in secondary schools; and the National Defense Education Act of 1958 which granted funds to schools to improve instruction in science, mathematics, and modern foreign language. While these acts are important historically and show how Congress has groped for an educational policy and reacted to the stimulus of a national emergency, their combined impact is trifling compared to the effect of the legislation enacted since 1963. The federal government is suddenly a powerful force in education at all levels.

The National Science Foundation makes grants for the purchase of instructional materials and equipment. Various I.S.C. staff members have prepared grant proposals and the college has received $15,000 in science, $8,300 in anthropology, and $1,300 in economics. The U.S. Office of Education awarded $1,812 to support a research project by a faculty member and this past summer contracted to the extent of some $38,000 with I.S.C. for the conduct of an institute for English teachers.

The College applied to the U.S.O.E. for a construction grant under the Higher Education Facilities Act of 1963 and was granted $1,026,000 to assist in constructing and equipping Weyandt Hall (Science Complex).

Federal aid for vocational education (home economics) exceeds $65,000 annually. Student loan funds provided under N.D.E.A. and employment funds under the Work-Study program now amount to over four hundred thousand dollars annually at I.S.C. and it is likely that student aid will be the largest item of federal-college involvement over the next several years.

Many forces have converged to produce and shape this recent legislation. Some federal programs involve an immense amount of control features which present a heavy administrative burden to the college. I.S.C. has continuously strived to derive maximum benefit from each new program and will continue to do so in the event other programs are enacted in the future.

College Sponsors Second European Study Program

A second European study program was offered for the first time by Indiana State College this past year. The program, which carried with it six semester hours of graduate or undergraduate credit, took thirty-seven persons, including twenty-three from ISC on a seven-week tour of Europe. Other participants came from Kent State University, University of Pittsburgh, Penn State University, Slippery Rock State College, University of West Virginia, Lehigh University, Dickinson College, Ohio Wesleyan University, and the University of New Hampshire.

Purpose of the tour was to view at first hand the metamorphosis of post-war Europe through an intensive study of the economic, political, and social developments of that part of the western world from which our culture springs.

The seven-week tour took the group to nine countries: Belgium, the Netherlands, Denmark, Germany, Italy, Switzerland, Luxembourg, France, and Great Britain.

Also offered by ISC was the third annual Study-in-Spain program, which permits future teachers of Spanish to spend approximately seven months immersed in Spanish culture and language at the University of Valladolid in Spain.

The program, which is sponsored by Indiana in cooperation with other Pennsylvania State Colleges, carries with it up to thirty credits toward graduation or permanent certification.

This group, which totals thirty participants, includes fifteen ISC students. They are scheduled to return to the United States late in December.

Because of the great success of the two programs, plans are already underway for offering both of them again in 1966.

Class Gives Money to Library

The Class of 1965 has donated its treasury balance of $59.61 to the General Library Fund of the College, according to Mrs. Mary Jane Boering, Class Adviser.

Officers of the class included James L. Condron of Verona, president; Robert Keefer of Pittsburgh, vice president; Marilyn Fleming of Indiana, secretary; and Ann Finnicum of Pittsburgh, treasurer.

Dr. Zink Cited for Service by Chicago Alumni Association

Dr. Norah E. Zink, Indiana State College Professor Emeritus, has been cited by the University of Chicago Alumni Association for public service in connection with her work to establish a clinic in a remote Nigerian village.

The alumni award, presented at Alumni Day ceremonies at the University of Chicago on June 12, is based upon the belief that a university education is a privilege which should inspire unselfish service to the community, the nation, and humanity.

The award is given to those alumni who, by their creative citizenship and exemplary leadership in voluntary activities, have richly benefited society.

Dr. Zink's Nigerian project, which is well under way, hopes to combat the high infant mortality rate in the area where it is established.

The retired professor was also cited for distinguishing herself in her academic field of geography as well as in civic affairs, with a long list of personal charities, sacrifices, and organizational activities to her credit.

Dr. Zink was a member of the geography department at ISC for 26 years before her retirement in 1961.

Activities of the Alumni Units and Groups

CLASS OF 1900

Sixty-five years proved their ability to keep down the attendance of our members at the reunion of the class of 1900 held on May 29, 1965. While only two of us, Lillie Mae Heitzenrater

(Mrs. Wm. Stamey) and the writer, were present in person, it was most pleasing to hear from six other members who, for various reasons were unable to attend, but to know they were with us in spirit.

The news we never like to hear which came after the invitations had been issued by the college, told us of two of our classmates, Elizabeth Lowman and Leon H. Hoffman, having joined the group the Herald lists "As It Must To All."

To those who sent notes of regret may I thank you and assure you it was a pleasure to hear from you but a disappointment that you could not be with us.

The campus, as we knew it in 1900, is much enlarged and improved but you will be glad to know "The Grove" has not yet suffered. In fact, like other places, it is improved and "Groveology" should continue to be a popular extra curricular activity.

If you will recall the three buildings on the campus in our days and could see a map of the present campus you would see that there are now over forty buildings. The days of one dormitory for boys and two floors of "Old Main" for girls have long ceased to exist.

As of now, the college records show the names and addresses of fifteen of the original seventy-one members of the class. Of these fifteen we have heard from a total of eight which leaves seven from whom we would like to hear.

The Alumni Dinner was a success and your two classmates were honored to have a part in this pleasant affair.

After a most pleasant two nights and a day on the old grounds may we say "Thank you for the privilege to return and may the coming years be as good as the past sixty-five."

THE CLASS OF 1915

The Class of 1915, along with many others, returned to the Indiana campus on Alumni Day. Considering that fifty years have passed since graduation, we sure saw a vast difference.

At the general alumni meeting at 10:30, when reunion classes were called on to stand up, the 1915 class made the best showing — the largest number by far.

Then again during the Alumni Luncheon, our class had the largest representation. We received the loudest and the longest applause. We were very delighted to say the least.

The class get-together at 3:15 in Sutton Hall was very well attended, and discussions and reports from many of the class were listened to with great interest. Many members told of some very interesting events in their lives over the years. Some related their travel experiences — to almost every part of the world, even around the world as late as this year.

Of course, almost all of our class members are retired, and if looks and activity are any barometer, we're not even tired.

The climax came at 6:30 p.m., when 77 members, including about a dozen guests got together at Lewis' Tea Room on Water Street in Indiana for a very good and delightful meal and a most interesting fellowship.

This event was arranged for by Helen Repine, Leona Kline, and Mrs. Louise Grant St. Clair. The table pieces were so very beautiful, and so were the corsages worn by all present. The committee really outdid itself to make our get-together the best ever.

At this dinner, Roy H. Ankeny, vice president, served as master of ceremonies in the absence of our president, Frank Terpe, who passed away earlier this year. We were all saddened by his passing, as we were by the passing of other members of our class.

We were delighted to have with us Dr. and Mrs. Willis Pratt, and Miss Baumbach, our German teacher at Indiana. After brief remarks thanks were in order.

Needless to say, we were so very happy that Miss Esch was honored by the college during the General Alumni meeting in the dining room at the college. She was presented with the annual Citation for fifty years of useful service at the college as registrar, along with many other very gracious services rendered. Miss Esch had as her guest her very gracious sister, Miss Hazel Esch. We're real proud of our Mary.

One of the very interesting events at the banquet was the reading by the chairman of many letters and telegrams from class members and faculty members who could not be present. There were two replies from former faculty members, Miss Edna B. Smith and Miss Ethel Orr. They regretted not being able to be present but wished us a very enjoyable day at Indiana.

All-in-all, the whole day constituted a real red-letter day in the lives of our 1915 class members present.

We're looking forward to more such reunions. How about it?

PITTSBURGH-NORTH BOROUGH'S UNIT

A very successful and pleasant year closed on June 12, 1965, with a trip to Old Economy, Ambridge. Dinner at an historic church in the village, and a conducted tour of the lately restored buildings and gardens of Old Economy, made a most delightful day — a fitting close to a well-planned year.

Heartly congratulations are in order to our president, Miss Catherine Taylor, as she becomes secretary in our General Alumni Association. We are proud of you, Catherine!

The honor conferred upon Miss Mary Esch during the commencement season, also gave us all great joy and a feeling of pride.

The agenda for the coming year in our Unit is being planned and will be ready for the first meeting in September. We hope you all have had a pleasant summer.

THE 60 YEAR CLASS

Six members of the Class of 1905 met in reunion at Indiana State College, May 29, 1965.

Thomas T. Hill, president of the class, attorney and once a teacher in the Indiana Public Schools, interrupted his duties as Mayor of the town of Valley Head, Alabama, to preside at the Class Reunion.

Ruth Forney Gross, a former teacher in Bellevue, Pa. Schools, now resident of St. Petersburg, Florida, also made the trip to be present.

Anna Clark Mellott of Ambridge, Pa., a teacher and cousin of the late Hope Stewart, beloved teacher at Indiana in our day, faithfully attends Alumni Day every spring and was present.

Charlotte Crossman Seanor, formerly a resident of Indiana, Pa., joined us from Hamburg, New York, where she now resides.

Cecelia Rayburn Jamison, Greensburg, Pa., a former teacher in the Greensburg Schools, has attended Alumni Day Exercises ever since the 50th Anniversary of the Class.

Mame Moore Dougherty, a one time teacher and resident of Pittsburgh, Pa., but now of Fort Lauderdale, Florida, came north for the occasion.

At the meeting following the Alumni Luncheon many interesting letters from absentees were read - Jennie Johns Rowe of Tucson, Arizona, Anna Wigton Wilson, Warriors Mark, Pa., Beatrice Graham Wagner, New Florence, Pa., William Clark Crawford, Millers-town, Pa., Grace Buterbaugh Wassam, Pittsburgh, Pa., Mary H. Urey, Pittsburgh, Pa., Alfred M. Forman, Meadville, Pa., and others.

Approximately twenty-seven of the original ninety-three members of the Class survive.

Formerly, at the death of a member, the Class placed a book in the College Library in honor and memory of the deceased. Last year it was decided to donate the balance in the Class treasury to the College Library to buy books dedicated as a memorial to the entire Class.

Although few in number, those of us who attended the Class Reunion came away enriched by the renewal of old friendships, the pleasure of reminiscing, and the realization that happy memories of Indiana College days continue to enhance our lives.

PHILADELPHIA UNIT

On Saturday, May 26, President John Federinko conducted the Philadelphia Unit through the Dutch Country of Lancaster County with Ira S. Franck (author of the "Ephrata Story") as guide.

First stop was at one of the Dutch Farmers' Markets in Lancaster, after which one felt we should share our bounty with the world's hungry.

Next stop was "Wheatland" the home of Pennsylvania's only president, bachelor James Buchanan. This home is one of the finest examples of ante-bellum restoration.

By now, internal urges directed the course toward food. On the way, an Amish buggy factory was visited. Buggies were hand-crafted of the finest wood and metal (by comparison autos are "cheap".) Also, saw in a shop-loft fine crafts, good in simplicity of design and color. The place chosen for dining was at the Plain and Fancy Farm (did Dick Kolmer get the name here for his show "Plain and Fancy"?) Well, that meal left no chinks to be filled and appetites were satisfied for many hours thereafter.

Next was the ancestral, 600-acre farm of Levi H. Brubaker which dates back to 1717. 300 head of cattle and 11,000 chickens were enough to impress the group of size; impressive too was the house with furnishings of some of the best of the past and of the present. The three sons and grandchildren were not there, but most impressive were Mr. and Mrs. Brubaker themselves and their wholesome way of life.

Last stop was Ephrata where Conrad Beissel founded the Medieval Cloisters in 1732. A community was set up to give expression to religious fervor by self-denial and pious simplicity. This community was dissolved in 1934, but still standing are Sisters' House, Chapel, Almonry, Beissel's log-house, three cottages, and the Academy (built in 1837.)

Then cars headed for home with a few members foot-sore, but all pleased that they knew something about the garden-spot of the world.

GREETINGS FROM CLASS OF 1905 by

Mame Moore Dougherty
We're lucky that we're still alive.
It has been sixty years since we Walked these halls with propriety.
Then, you see, we were all the rage.

Now, we belong to the "Metallic
Age,"

Silver in the hair, gold in the teeth,

Rust in the joints, lead in the feet,
Still we don't concede defeat.

For our hearts beat oh, so true
For Alma Mater and for you,

And we're filled with nostalgic
yearning

To follow again the path that leads

To youth; with a burning
Desire to don cap and gown

And march with the seniors all around.

But our step is slow, and we know
Time has stolen the years away

Left our memories alone to stay,
One memory that's bright along the way,

Is Indiana!

That is why we're here today.

Donald Sutherland, friends of the Andersons. There were twenty-three members and guests in attendance.

Editor's note: The poem on the following page, penned in June 1910 by W. E. Stiver, a member of that year's class, was read at the 55th reunion of the group on Alumni Day, May 29, 1965.

TO THE I.S.N.S. CLASS OF 1910

Within the extent of Nature's realm
 Variation holds entire sway;
 Monotony is there unknown
 For Time affects change every day;
 The azure dome o'erstretched on high
 The clouds may soon shut off
 from sight;
 The brightness we today behold
 Gives place to majesty of night.
 The hills now gay in Summer's green
 Will soon be clothed in Winter's white;
 The beauteous lake be bound
 with ice,
 Though lately decked with lilies
 bright;
 The dewdrop on the clover leaf
 Will presently be borne on high
 A moment with the clouds to ride,
 Then fall and in the ocean lie.
 As Nature thus must hasten on,
 No time to stop or backward
 turn,
 So Life for us will do the same;
 This lesson we must quickly learn.
 We pass from sunshine into shade
 And then again into the light;
 Perhaps from pleasure into pain,
 Or lowland view to mountain height.
 As every tree in woodland once
 The same gay color proudly shares
 But soon as summer days have sped,
 Obeying Time, its own hue
 wears,
 So we, in Learning's paths allied,
 Seeking each the self-same goal,
 Pursue no more the common prize;
 Each strives his own work to control.
 Should Science to our waiting minds
 Her many truths deign to unfold

 No longer shall we share the page
 With classmates as in days of old.
 If we again in Caesar's wars
 A little time should wish to spend
 New allies at our side must fight,
 New comrades on our way attend.
 We were so busy at our tasks
 We scarce took note how time went by,
 But realize as now we part
 Our paths no more together lie.
 And though the days were busy days
 And labor seemed to have no end
 Still we are loath to bid goodbye,
 Sorry to leave each well-tried friend.
 And when no more our class shall meet,
 And duty bids or pleasure calls,
 Memory oft shall bring us back
 To view again these well known halls.
 And may we for the time spent here
 See in our life a deeper pleasure;
 For our associations true
 Regard each friendship as a treasure.
 Some may reach success and fame,
 Others may work in lowly place.
 May labor be to each a joy,
 May each meet duty face to face!
 We'll still be in the school of life
 With other women, other men;
 O, may the Teacher All-wise instruct
 The girls and boys of Nineteen
 Ten!

Homecoming Day For 1965-66

To Be Biggest In History

Annual Homecoming Day at Indiana State College will be held Saturday, October 9, 1965.

Highlights of this annual event will include the traditional "Parade of Floats," the big Homecoming football game, alumni meetings, and a variety of social events.

Theme of this year's parade is "Twentieth Century Headlines in Color," Dr. Paul A. Risheberger, parade chairman, has announced. Fraternities, sororities, and other student campus organizations have been invited to enter floats carrying out this theme.

Prizes donated by the Indiana Kiwanis Club, the Indiana College Bookstore, the President's Alumni Committee, the Indiana Student Council, the Indiana Evening Gazette, and McGill Motors will be awarded on the basis of originality and appropriateness to the theme at the George P. Miller Stadium prior to the football game.

The parade, which will begin at 12:15, will originate at the college campus, move through the center of the Indiana community, and enter the George P. Miller Stadium, where it will circle the track so that spectators can view the entire parade. The winning floats will then be announced and paraded in front of the grandstand.

In the afternoon football game at Miller Stadium, Indiana's Big Indians will go against Edinboro. Kickoff time will be 2:45 p.m.

In the evening a three-act musical comedy "Fantasticks," will be presented under the direction of Robert W. Ensley.

In addition, the Indiana Country Club will be the scene of a Homecoming Dance for alumni and friends, sponsored by the Indiana Unit of the General Alumni Association. Music for this informal affair will be provided by Ken Maurey's Orchestra.

Many additional daytime activities are also planned for the day. Arthur F. Nicholson, president of the General Alumni Association, has called a meeting of the Executive Council in Cogswell Auditorium at 9:30 a.m.

Registration for Homecoming Day will begin at 9:00 a.m. and continue throughout the day in Room 101, Leonard Hall on the campus.

Beginning at 10:00 a.m., and continuing until 11:00 o'clock, a brunch will be served in the college dining room. No formal program has been planned for this affair; however, incidental music on the Hammond Organ will provide a pleasant background for the activity. No reservations are necessary for the brunch.

At 11:00 a.m. the new dining hall at the corner of Eleventh and Grant Streets will be dedicated in honor of Dr. Charles R. Foster, president of Indiana State College from 1927 to 1936.

Other events, including a cafeteria dinner from 4:30 to 6:00 p.m., dancing in Waller Gymnasium, and socializing in the Student Union, will complete the day's activities.
